22d, Anniversary of the birth of George Washington. Celebration of the day by the employees of the Mint.

To day being the anniversary of the birth of the illustrious Washington, the Mint was closed by order of Hon James Pollock. Director. The officers clerks & employees of the institution, celebrated the day in the "adjusting Room", by appropriate Ceremonies. The Exercises were opened with prayer by A. G. Rowland. Prof J. C. Booth Melter & Refiner, then read the "Farewell address" of the Father of his Country. after which Mr Pollock the Director delivered an eloquent and patriotic address. The "Star Spangled Banner" and other National hymns were sung by the employees. In the evening the Mint building was handsomely illuminated, and a transparency, containing a female figure representing the Genius of America, with the words, "The Union Triumphant" was displayed on the front portico.

June 1863.

14th Invasion of Pennsylvania.

In the early part of June 1863, the principal insurgent army under the command of Gen. R.E. Lee invaded Pennsylvania occupying Chambersburg, York, Gettysburg and the surrounding country. On the 1st 2nd & 3rd of July one of the most desperate conflicts of modern times took place, between the U.S. Forces commanded by Gen. Meade & the Insurgent army of Lee, which finally terminated in favor of the Union Army, Gen. Lee retiring safely by a rapid retreat to & across the Potomac

The news of this formidable invasion spread an alarm throughout the state, and large numbers of the militia volunteered, in response to the call of Gov. Curtin for the Defence of the State.

The Inspector of the Insane (Ex. Gov. Pollock) having made known to the employees, of the institution his desire that as many of them as could leave home should volunteer for the defence of the State, the following persons promptly offered their services, and proceeded at once to Harrisburg, where they reported to the Gov. were mustered into the service of the U.S; viz;
